August Dreier Is Endorsed IN MASS MEETING By Home Rule Republicans

The Home Rule Republicans held a large mass meeting at the Fishmarket yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock to endorse the candidacy of August Dreier for the Legislature. The meeting was more or less of an impromptu one, the speakers depending on the crowd which always congregates at the Fishmarket on a Saturday afternoon for an audience.

Shortly after 4 o'clock the speakers arrived headed by Kaulla. The table was put in a central position on the mauka end of the Ewa side of the market, and Kaulla ascended upon the table and sang out in stentorian tones, "Kill the snake. Pepehi ka mohe." His old battle cry caused a throng to assemble which, during the speeches swelled until there was quite a large crowd listening to the orators.

Palau the First Speaker.
The first of the speakers was Palau. He began by announcing August Dreier as the candidate of the Home Rule Republican party. He spoke in part as follows:

"August Dreier, the Home Rule party's candidate, is the only man. Don't consider the Republican candidate. We have been under the rule of the Republican party for the last nine years and what have they done. You, the citizens of the Fourth District, have been living in subjection to the Republican party and have been as men without a voice. They have promised you many things but they have never fulfilled their promises. Don't ask who Dreier is or what his principles are. It is entirely unnecessary. He is a candidate of the Home Rule Republican party on the Home Rule Republican platform. It is all that is necessary. Don't let yourselves be inveigled by the deceiver when you go to the polls on the ninth. Don't follow the voice of those people who have sought every opportunity to down you. While they have taken the name of the Republican party they do not represent the great Republican party of the United States. I am warning you people who are to vote to make no mistakes in your votes but vote for August Dreier."

"Kill the Snake."
When Palau had finished, Kaulla sprang upon the table and shouted out his old cry, "Kill the snake." He then proposed three cheers for August Dreier and led the cheering. He began his speech by referring to the protest against Dreier's running as a candidate for the Home Rulers. He then made the announcement that both Secretary Cooper and the Supreme Court had announced that Dreier's name should remain on the ballot. He continued as follows:

What the Republicans Are.
"There are now two parties arrayed against each other. The Home Rule Republican party and the Republicans. All you people of the Fourth District vote for Dreier. He is the first name on the ballot. It has been said that it was the Home Rulers who were responsible for the inactivity of the Legislature. That is not so. It was the Republicans who blocked the Legislature. It was the Republicans who defeated my bill which provided for the licensing of gambling. What was the result? They have thereby deprived many a man of his livelihood and ruined many of the natives. Before this a native man could go down with 35 cents or so and after gambling for a little while he could come here to the fishmarket and buy lots of good things. The Republican party and Dole, as the head of that party, are responsible for that."

"There is this year on the Republican ticket a nominee who is both young and inexperienced instead of there being a man like August Dreier who is an older man with much experience and who is interested in the welfare of the people despite the fact that he is a capitalist, I want to show you what kind of people the Republicans are. What did Clarence Grabbe do when we began our meeting and began to talk just a little while ago. He started to make fun of us. And that man is a Senator of the Republican party. He is a good representative of the party and shows what the Republican party thinks of you and what they will do to you if you follow them. They will make fun of you."

"The Home Rule party has only a little money. It is a poor party composed of poor men, but it is held together by bonds of loyalty between the men to themselves and to the good of the country. There is news from Washington that Achi, Carter and Kanaheha are all only two term Senators while Kalaupaka and Cecil Brown are to remain for four years. We are looking after the good of the people, that is what the Home Rule party is doing. It is not looking for money as the Republicans are but for justice to all men."

Kanaheha Praises Dreier.
Kanaheha, the nestor of the Home Rulers, was the next to mount the table. Like all the preceding and also the following speakers he addressed his audience in the Hawaiian language. He spoke in part as follows:

"Let us find out for ourselves who this man Dreier is whom we have nominated as the candidate for the Home Rule party. I will explain to you who he is that we may all know. We are looking for a good and a steady man and we think that we have found him. We have chosen him to lead us to victory. We do not want to vote for the side which has caused us to be down-trodden and which has lost no opportunity in trying to down the native race. I tell you they are being defeated by the very same means which they have been employing against us. We have come to the time when we have taken upon ourselves the task of getting rid of those people who have ever tried to down us. I refer you to the plague time and our dwelling places were burned down by the Republican party and by the government which is in power today. Now they are trying to get $3,000,000 to pay off these claims. I do not want to make any personal references. I refer in a broad way to all the wrongs to which you have been subjected at the hands of the Republican party, but, as I say, I am making no personal references whatever. I say let us go in and vote for August Dreier."

Wise on Republican Tactics.
Kaulla next ascended upon the table and announced that John Wise would be the next speaker. He introduced Wise as a young Democrat who had been in the States and had shaken the hand of President Roosevelt. Mr. Wise then took the platform and spoke as follows:

"Citizens: Two years ago we, literally speaking, took up our guns to fight the enemy. Now again we are up in arms to fight for this, the right hand district of the Republican party. What has been the work of the Republican party during the last few days? They have tried to get the name of Dreier on the ballot by means of a little technicality. That is the way they want to fight us. They do not come out to fight us in the open, vote to vote, but try to get the best of us by the use of a technicality, as the Republican papers there has, the last few days, been a lot of statements to the effect that to vote for Dreier was to throw away your vote."

Help for the People.

"Why do I speak in favor of the Home Rule Republican party? It is because I see that theirs are the principles which will help the people. We must look to the party where we can secure our rights. Look at what the Republicans did in the last general election. Do you remember how they put up several native candidates on their ticket and when there were defeated what did they do? They said that they were defeated and made the statements in their papers that they were defeated because they were thieves and other like things. Do you want to belong to a party which deceives you in case you are defeated. What did Wilson and the other Hawaiians get who followed with the Republicans? They got nothing. When the Republicans got into power the white men got all jobs and natives were left in the cold. They promised jobs to them but they never fulfilled their promises. They want you to work for them but when the work is done they throw you down. If on the other hand you vote for the Home Rule party, then you will obtain and keep your rights."

Stand Together for the Future.
"I tell you, you must look to the future. We must all stand together for the good of the people. There is only one party and that is the Home Rule Republican party. What did the Republicans do during the first days of this election? First of all they said that they were not going to put up a man. Then at last, in the eleventh hour, they put up a man and tried to get him through on a technicality. The Republicans are trying to take away from you your rights. Their work is that of a snake. I tell you the day is coming when we will dictate to those Republicans what we want done because we are going to win out in the end. We should be very careful that we follow now in the proper path and that mainly because of our children who are now growing up. Remember, if we do not do right now our children will stand up some day and ask us what we did with their rights and why we did not strike out for our race in time."

Where is the Hawaiian Flag.
Representative Iruki was the next speaker. He said in part:

"Where is that beloved flag of ours today? Where are the chiefs who used to rule over this country? They are all gone. All these were taken from us native Hawaiians. We are citizens now but our race has not the old prestige which it used to have. Dreier was a member of the Legislature at one time and when the government wanted money for public improvements and no one else was willing to put up the money, August Dreier stood up and gave help to the extent of $10,000. If he did that much, shall we throw him over. I tell you vote for August Dreier. If the Republicans try to bribe you, you throw their money in their faces."

Y.M.C.A. IN CLEVELAND

S. P. FENN TO LECTURE HERE THIS AFTERNOON

Ohio Association Founded Before
Civil War Has Grown to Twenty-Four Hundred Members.

Among the guests at the Hawaiian Hotel at present is Mr. S. P. Fenn, who is spending a short while in these islands having come here partly for business but principally on pleasure. Mr. Fenn is the president of the Young Men's Christian Association in Cleveland and is prominently connected with the Association work in the States.

When seen by a Bulletin reporter yesterday, Mr. Fenn spoke of the Association in Cleveland as one of the most prominent in the States. It has now about 2400 members and is steadily growing.

The Cleveland Association was, according to Mr. Fenn, founded before the Civil War. During the war, in 1863, it was absorbed with the different kinds of Christian work and from that time until 1868 there was no regular Association in Cleveland. In 1868 the Association was reorganized and ever since then it has had a steady growth.

Mr. Fenn called attention to the great difference in the Association work as it was carried on in former days and the work as it is being done in this later stage of development. In the old days it was largely identified with church work and although the members of the Association came from various elements and belonged to various creeds, still the work was in the main carried on upon the same lines as in the churches with Sunday schools, etc.

Now the Association ideas and work have expanded so that now it works more on the auxiliary lines doing not only purely Christian work but also working largely on other branches such as the moral, physical and intellectual lines.

Mr. Fenn will speak this afternoon at 4 o'clock on Cleveland's 2400 members "Why They Believe in the Y. M. C. A."

A GREENLAND WHALE.

A paper mache model of the head of a Greenland whale, which arrived from Rochester a short time ago, has just been put up in the Bishop Museum and is now open for inspection to the public. The model is of interest as the Greenland whale is the one which supplies the whale bone or "belien" of commerce.

The regular meeting of the Ministerial Union will be held Monday, April 7, at 10 a. m. There will be a paper by Rev. Hiram Bingham. Subject, "Some Reminiscences of Mission Work in the Gilbert Islands."

Enormous Republican Rally AT EMMA SQUARE Favors Candidate W. W. Harris

A rousing Republican meeting was held in Emma Square last evening, commencing at 8 o'clock. A good sized crowd was present, notwithstanding the presence of a theatrical company in the death of one of the local representatives to draw the people on Saturday evening.

The band stand was brightly illuminated with electric lights, and the sweet strains of familiar Hawaiian airs played and sung by W. J. Coelho and his famous Pan-American Quartet supplied another form of entertainment between the eloquent speeches of the numerous speakers in the cause of Republican politics.

Democrats and Home Rulers There.
Charles Wilson introduced the speakers and W. J. Coelho interpreted from Hawaiian into English and from English into Hawaiian.

There was much enthusiasm manifested and there were present several other than Republicans. Several prominent Democrats were noticeable among the audience and many members of the Home Rule party were within the boundaries of the square. The gathering was about evenly divided between the native Hawaiians and others.

If the manifested feelings of the crowd could elect the Republican candidate, W. W. Harris would at that moment be certain of succeeding to the seat left vacant in the Legislature.

Kane Urges a Duty.
The first speaker was S. Kane who spoke in part as follows:

"Fellow citizens:—We have been called out to perform a duty which we owe to ourselves and to our fellow citizens. It is an unusual thing to hold a meeting of this kind prior to any but the regular election. But we are all well aware that this election on Wednesday is due to a vacancy caused by the death of one of the local representatives of our Legislature. He whose death causes the present vacancy was true to his party and upheld the Republican principles. It now becomes our duty to fill the vacancy caused by the death of one of our members and we must fill that vacancy with a Republican. We must not let that seat be lost to the Republican party."

Man From Our Own Ranks.

"I give great credit to the central committee of our party for refusing to listen to the utterances of those who advised leaving the seat vacant. The seat was filled with honor before and we must not neglect the duty of filling it with a man from our own ranks. If we fall in this we will incur the distrust of our fellow citizens."

"The apparently discouraging statement has been made that it was useless to fill the vacancy left by A. F. Gillfillan as there was no special session of the Legislature in sight. Even if there should be no special session of the Legislature, we should not be hindered from doing our duty. Even if it required but the casting of one vote we should cast that vote."

"I urge you, gentlemen, to do your duty. A Republican seat has been vacated and it is our duty to fill it with a Republican man. If the Home Rulers or the Democrats have neglected to do their duty that is their fault and not ours. It is being said that the Republican party is trying to limit the suffrage of the Hawaiian people. I want to tell you that such statements are absolutely false."

Requests to Congressmen.

"You remember well, when that commission appointed by Congress came here, invitations were issued for all classes and conditions of people to come and express their views openly. A body of Hawaiians presented a memorial to this committee and many of the privileges afterwards accorded us were the very things prayed for in that memorial presented by those few Hawaiians."

"The prayer was made that a Territorial form of government be established in these islands. The prayer was granted. We prayed for the making free of the fishing rights and the prayer was granted. All these things appear in the Organic Act. These Hawaiians also asked for continued local jurisdiction in the matter of courts. And, gentlemen of the Republican party, the Home Rule representatives did not do these things, they did not pray for these privileges which we now enjoy. They sat back and laughed and published malicious articles against those few Hawaiians who were considering the good of their country. Among the Hawaiians who prayed for these benefits were J. M. Poepeo, J. K. Dush, Robert Baker and others."

Home Rulers Unreliable.

"Why should you put any faith in the vain promises of the Home Rule party. That party has never carried out any of those things which they promised to perform when they asked for the votes of the people. If you do not know how the Home Rule party conducted itself at the last session of the Legislature, I will tell you. They had promised to relieve the sufferers from the plague fires and were going to do many other great things. They had the majority and could have done as they wished if they had been true to their promises. But no, they were not going to keep their promises."

"What did they do? They passed a law for the benefit of dogs."

"And if you elect them again, if you elect another of their men, do you think they will do what they promise? It is just as likely as not that they will pass a law for the benefit of cats."

Seek Democratic Aid.

"And now the Home Rulers are looking to help from the Democrats. They have strengthened their forces by uniting with the Democrats."

"They say our candidate is young. So he is, but he is qualified to fill a responsible position as a business man and he is therefore qualified to represent his fellow citizens in a more responsible position, that of filling the vacancy in the House of Representatives. W. W. Harris, the Republican candidate for representative for the Fourth District, will faithfully carry out the principles of our platform for the good of all. This fight is not a fight for an extra session of the Legislature. This is a fight to retain the seat which is now vacant within our own ranks."

"Billy" Hoogs' Address.

"Billy" Hoogs followed Kane on the platform, he spoke in part as follows: "Fellow citizens, Republicans and ladies:—I do not appear before you tonight as an orator; I come rather as a pleader. I come to plead with you to vote for the Republican candidate. We need staunch and true Republicans in the special session of the Legislature. If we have one, and I call upon you Republicans of the Fourth District to put your shoulders together and elect W. W. Harris."

"The Home Rulers promised to do great things if they were elected. As a matter of fact they did nothing at the last session of the Legislature except to block every move in the right direction that was made by men anxious to serve the people and work for good government."

Home Rulers are Blockers.

"In the last Legislature the Republicans were willing to co-operate with the Home Rulers in all legislation for good government, but the Home Rulers would not have it and did everything in their power to place stumbling blocks in our path. They had the majority both in the House and the Senate and they not only blocked us in what we tried to do but they absolutely failed in accomplishing anything they had promised to do. They failed to keep faith with the voters who elected them to the Legislature."

"There are too many Home Rulers in the Legislature already. Do not elect another member of the Home Rule party. Elect W. W. Harris. Dreier is a good man but he is on the wrong side. He must be defeated and we must defeat him by united and sincere effort."

"If you elect Harris to the Legislature you will never regret it."

William Aylett Speaks.

Representative William Aylett was next introduced to the crowd. His speech, in brief, was as follows:

"Fellow citizens: I observe that your perceptions go deeper than the surface, for although I carry on my breast the emblem of a back driver, I know that you understand what was firmly planted in my bosom when you elected me. You knew I would be true to the Republican party and would carry out the wishes of the people to the best of my ability."

Dreier Neglects His Duty.

"It is a strange thing that the Home Rule candidate, Dreier, is now working for the votes of the people when he was unable in the first place to do anything himself in the way of qualifying as an American citizen. How can Dreier expect the votes of the people when he neglected his first duty when he failed to properly identify himself as a citizen and as a voter?"

"There are two candidates in the field. One is a young man and the other is an old man. The young man was born among us; brought up among us; educated among us and all his interests are in this country. He is a young man who recognized his duties as a citizen and registered his name according to law. W. W. Harris is a young business man who can be trusted with a responsible position."

"The Home Rule candidate is an old gentleman and some people are unkind enough to say that he is very ignorant. I am sorry for him. I did not think that he would permit himself to be used by the Home Rulers in this manner. Dreier did not take the trouble to register, and a man who neglects so simple a duty as this is not a man to be trusted with far graver and more responsible duties, where the welfare of the people is concerned. I would be sorry if you were to give your votes for a man who does not do his duty to himself or to his fellow citizens. I urge you to cast your votes for the man who has qualified as a citizen and as a voter."

"The object of the Republican party in Hawaii is to seek good government"
